NEWSLETTER - NOVEMBER 2014

November is a beautiful month. It is a time for the bright autumn leaves to fall and a month to pause and give thanks for all that we have been blessed with. John Isley is releasing a Christmas song to raise money and help feed those who are not fortunate to enjoy a holiday meal, and I will be releasing a song titled "Here's To Jay" to honor my nephew and raise money to help fund the fight against fibrolamellar cancer. Please join us in our efforts to give thanks and help others.....

In the moment in Millville

DA JUKES: The Jukes autumn schedule is starting to ramp up and we've had a bunch of fun shows since the last newsletter. We played the Surflight Theatre in New Jersey for a very appreciative audience. Then, onto Buffalo and then a very long, long ride to Albany where we played "The Egg" - a crazy-looking building that looks like, well, an egg. It's right in the middle of the New York state capital and easy to see, but super-hard to get to. The audiences there and in Buffalo were fun and we had a great time playin' for 'em. We finished up the month with a great crowd at the new Infinity Hartford venue and with our ol' pals in Millville. Got a bunch of November dates, so c'mon out and say hello!!!!.....

With my Jukes brothers Jeff Kazee and John Isley

GLENN STREET LIVE: Too many other gigs and sessions in October, so Glenn Street was put on hold. November looks to be more Glenn Street-friendly, with some fun shows and special guests, so please check in on YouTube, Facebook and Twitter.....

ETC: I wrote a song in memory of my nephew, Jay Alexander, who passed away on November 4, 2011. I have recorded it - John Isley co-produced and Jeff Kazee is featured on keys, Tom Seguso on drums, as well as a ton of singers. I will be releasing "Here's To Jay" this month to honor Jay and to raise money to help fight this rare cancer that targets young adults. Please watch my website and Facebook page for news on the release ... I was thrilled to spend some of October on the road with my old friends in LaBamba and the Hubcaps - Richie "LaBamba" Rosenberg, Mark "The Love Man" Pender, Timmy Capella, David Longworth, Mike Mancini, Lynn Lockamy and Tony Tino. We played some private events all over the country and it was a great time. Mark and Richie are on the west coast now with their Conan gig, so we don't get together often, but when we do, it's like old times. We have a few more private dates in the coming months, but I'm hopin' we get to play for y'all again soon ... The New York Horns had a great gig at Rockwood Music Hall in NYC in October. Our new album has made the first cut in the Grammy voting, so we're hopeful for a nomination. Stay tuned. Meanwhile, please keep checking our website and Facebook page for new dates ... GA3 had yet another great show at The Bayou in Mount Vernon. We're lookin' to book some more dates and we may be recording (!!!) very soon! We'll keep you posted.....
