GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - SEPTEMBER 2015

In the blink of an eye, summer has flown by and the fall is upon us. I hope it was a great summer for all of you. It does not always go as planned, but we must make the most of what we have and enjoy each and every minute as best we can, because, as you know, each minute we are alive, we are one minute closer to death. Don't waste time worrying about what should have, could have or might have happened, but make the most of the moment you have. I love the Michael Singer quote "everything will be okay as soon as you're okay with everything." Somewhere in there is a balance. I love music and I hope you will come out and share a moment or two with me somewhere along the line.....

THE JUKES: Well, the new album, Soultime, is finally out, and let me tell y'all - it's a good one! I think this will appeal to all of The Jukes hardcore fans (and you KNOW who you are!), as well as the casual, check-in-once-in-a-while-fan. Anyway, we'll be out on the road promoting this bad boy, including a benefit show in New Jersey, as well as a six-shows-in-three-days extravaganza (say what?) in Western Massachusetts. If you can't get to one of the shows, the new tunes are available on iTunes, Amazon and the like, as well as The Jukes website. Pick it up, give it a listen and please let us know what you think.....

It was a red-hot show in Truro with The Jukes

Workin' on Glenn Street - stay tuned!!!

GLENN STREET LIVE: Okay, so Glenn Street has been dark and lonely for several months and you may think it's just fallen by the wayside. Well, if you thought that, you'd be WRONG! I have been working hard - with my Glenn Street partner-in-crime and techno guru, John Isley, as well as assorted other Glenn Street regulars - to get this baby up and running again. We have a lot of new equipment and the trick is getting all of the new gear working in sync with the old gear so we can provide a pristine, glitch-free concert experience. It's a lot harder to accomplish that than you may think, but John and I are working diligently to get this train moving again. So, please monitor Facebook and Twitter pages for the latest news and info and any announcements. And, if you missed any of our previous webcasts, please check out our YouTube channel

ETC: I have another hit with my good friend, Will Kenney at The Bitter End coming up on September 1st. Always a pleasure to play with such a talented cat ... I will be playing some shows this month with my daughter, Oria Aspen, including a private party in New Jersey and dates at both Bar Thalia in New York City and The Bayou in Mount Vernon. While Oria is an amazingly talented singer-songwriter in her own right, at the NYC gig, we'll be playing some blues and jazz standards. Hope some of y'all will join us at one of these great venues ... I just finished tracks for Faith Marks' new CD, which also features Rob Paparozzi, John Isley, Jason Marks, Rodney Howard and Greg Novick. Faith is a very talented singer-song writer and pianist ... Also, please remember to check out my website and Facebook page for all of the latest, news, gig dates and information
