GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - NOVEMBER 2015

Been runnin' hard - working many days straight - gigging, teaching and recording. Sometimes I catch myself whining about the endless long days, and then, with a moments pause and a more in-depth look, I realize how incredibly fortunate I am to have work - work that I enjoy. Work that often entertains and gives others pleasure. Work that puts food on the table and pays the bills. November is a month where we give thanks and are reminded to be grateful and thankful for what we have. The amazing writer Jack Kerouac said it so beautifully: "Be in love with your life - every minute of it." I you hope have a wonderful and enriching November. Thank you all for being a part of my tiny little world and I hope to see you along the way

GA3: While October was a busy month with all kinds of different projects for all involved, GA3 still managed to do a little recording and have a great gig. We played at the end of the month at 12 Grapes in Peekskill. Love that joint! The owners, the audience, the vibe - everything about it was tremendous. Thanks to everyone for coming out and we hope to have a bunch more dates in the near future, so please stay tuned for info

Always a great day when I make music with Oria!

THE JUKE: After a somewhat slow early autumn, The Jukes are comin' back strong in November! We have a ton of dates this month, including two nights at the Iridium in New York City. This is a great room and one of the nights will be filmed for the acclaimed PBS show, Front and Center. We'll also be heading to New England and Upstate New York, so c'mon out, buy our new album "Soultime!" and say hi

ORIA ASPEN: I had a couple of private shows with my daughter Oria Aspen last month and we killed it! We love playin' together and it shows in the music. We had the pleasure of playin' at the grand reopening of my good friend Kim Baker's beautiful salon, Radici - The Hair Bar, in Springfield. It was a great night and we are lookin' to book more shows open to the public soon, so please stay tuned to my

ETC: I had a couple of private gigs with my old friends LaBamba and Mark Pender last month. Man, I miss playin' with those cats! It's always a treat when I get a chance to play with those guys, but with them being out on the West Coast, it's tough to schedule. We played a couple of shows for NCC Media and my great friends, Andrew Capone and Ken Little, and it was great fun. Hopefully, I'll be playin' a public gig with Richie and Mark in the near future, so everyone can come and enjoy the craziness ... In what is starting to look like a regular event, I had another great gig with my buddy Will Kenney at The Bitter End. These shows are always special, so I encourage everyone to try and catch one - we have a couple on tap this month. Plus, The Bitter End is such an iconic venue, that it's always a treat to play there ... The last few months I've had a lot of late gigs added to the schedule that didn't make this newsletter. So please always check in with my website and Facebook page for the latest dates and info.....
