GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - JUNE 2016

Finally, summer is here!!! Okay, it officially begins June 20th on the big calendar, but it is really here. Garden is in and looking forward to lots of sun and warm temps. Don't have a lot of gigs in June, which will allow for finishing other projects and recording new ones. The new Shadowland CD is coming soon and we are looking forward to getting out and playing. Hope y'all have a great June .....

Koln Dom - truly one of the most amazing buildings in the world

THE JUKES: There's no place like home, but WOW - what a road trip that was!!! We had shows in England, Holland, Germany and Belgium, before finishing up back in Holland at the legendary Paradiso. It was a grueling trip, I'm not gonna lie to you - 15 shows in 21 days with too many hours spent on a bus, but of course there were plenty of highlights, as well. Whenever I had a little down-time, I tried to get out and look around and soak up some of the local sites and culture. I saw quaint cobblestone streets lined with bicycles, spectacular artwork by some of the Dutch masters and magnificent buildings and architecture dating back centuries. We were greeted warmly wherever we went and got to say hello to some old friends and made new ones along the way. The shows themselves were great - the fans and band connected through the music, and that's what it's all about. I posted lots of pictures of my journey on my Facebook, so please check 'em out, if you haven't already. Anyway, we barely got back and we started giggin' right away, with fun shows in Harrisburg, The Keswick and down in Atlantic City at The Borgata. We play at some of our favorite places in June - Ridgefield and The Birchmere, to mention two - so, c'mon out and say hi .....

SHADOWLAND: Now that I'm back home, I can't wait to get back to work on the Shadowland CD! The recording itself is practically all done, so we're starting to mix it and deal with the artwork, etc. While I regret not being able to bring the CD to Europe with me, I realize I made the right decision to not rush the project. I want to be able to take my time and make sure everything is right before I release it. As I said, I'm really proud of this music and y'all will hear it soon, so please stay tuned for upcoming announcements of future gigs, dates, a CD release party and lots of other good things .....

Makin' music with the wonderful Oria at Trend in Montclair

ETC: Oria and I had a fun gig as part of a singer-songwriter event at Trend Coffee & Tea House in Montclair. We had a great crowd and performed on a bill with some other talented musicians, including Leila and Ahmed Kharem, Tatiana Lima and Leslie Goldman. My good buddy Michael Locker put the whole thing together and it was a blast ... Well, watch out - New York Horns are back at Pete's Saloon in early June! We love the vibe in this joint and, of course, it's always fun to play with these cats ... Don't forget to check my website and Facebook page for all of the latest gig dates and info .....
