GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - NOVEMBER 2017

October was a busy, but fantastic month. Pig Gig 3 was bigger and better than ever! Again, thank you to all who contributed and were there....more below..."Here's To Jay!" The fall is in full swing and it is beautiful. Enjoy, as winter is around the corner - also very beautiful, but a bit challenging sometimes. At the end of the month we get to give thanks for the many blessings that we have. Things may not be perfect in our lives, but any day above ground is a day to celebrate, enjoy and be thankful for. I wish the best for all of you, hope you have a fantastic November and I hope that you stop out and say hi .....

SHADOWLAND: Thank you, thank you, thank you to EVERYONE who made Pig Gig 3 such a success!!! It was a really amazing day for me, seeing so many friends and fans who came out to hang and hear some great music - all to raise money for the fight against Fibrolamellar

Cancer, the disease that claimed my nephew Jay at the age of 20. So many folks made this day happen, from the great musicians (including our friends in The Lonesome Pines, our very special guest Southside Johnny and my Shadowland bandmates), my good buddy Bill from Swine Time, who donated his time and all of the food; all of the wonderful sponsors (the aforementioned Swine Time, the Law Firm of Hutt & Shimanowitz, Bill's Ineffable Automobile Restoration, Craig Stock Landscape Design); the folks from the Fibrolamellar Cancer Foundation. At the end of the day, almost $2,000 was raised for research so other families won't have to go through the hell ours did. The highlight for me had to be when I sat on the stage with Oria and we had the live debut of "Here's To Jay," a song I wrote to honor Jay. It was a very emotional moment in a very emotional day. So, thanks to all - and if you weren't able to attend and still want to contribute, please visit the Fibro Fund's website. Here's to Jay!!! ... We had a couple of great shows last month - the first was at the Laundromat Bar. While there were plenty of folks that came to see us, there were also people there that came in for happy hour and stayed because they dug what they saw. Thanks to all for comin' out ... We also had a show at Sarah Lawrence College, where I head up the jazz program. It's always fun to perform for my students and for them to see what I do away from the classroom ... There's a new item in my website store - oh yeah, we've got women's t-shirts. Not the boxy, oversized men's shirts (but we got those, too!), but these are made just for the ladies, so please check 'em out .....

THE JUKES: The Jukes ramped it up big-time in October and we seemed to have gigs all over the place - Cape Cod, Vermont, Florida, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Most of the shows were packed with enthusiastic fans - ah, the power of Southside! November is another crazy month for us. We head back to California for the second time in six months for a run of shows there, then back to one of our favorite spots: Infinity Hall in Hartford. That is a cool newer venue that always has a great crowd. We then head up to New Hampshire for a show at the Tupelo Music Hall in Derry. Hope some of you folks make it out to one of these gigs and say hi .....

ETC: I'm really excited to play a date this month with my pals in LaBamba and The Hubcaps at New York's Cutting Room. I love Richie and Mark "The Loveman" Pender and am always thrilled to hit with those crazy cats ... I am also hittin' with Oria this month at the MusicLocker Singer-Songwriter In-the-Round event at the very cool Trend Coffee & Tea in Montclair. Oria and I have played this event before and it's always a good time. It's great to catch up with old friends and see how many talented folks there are in your own backyard. This is always a fun night and I encourage y'all to come out for it ... Last month, I joined my good friend - and saxophonist extraordinaire - Bob Maguson for a couple of performances at the United Nations. Those shows were special for me - a boy from Maize, Kansas performing for dignitaries at the U.N. We hope to do more of these shows in the near future .....
