GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - NOVEMBER 2018

Month 11, November is here. I love the fall weather, cold temps, leaves falling and the fact that the year is soon coming to a close, which means the thrill of a new year approaches. Yes, some absurdities and blunders may have crept in but all in all it's been good. Can't wait for Thanksgiving, the holiday where we get to reflect and be thankful for all that we have. I know that I feel damn fortunate. So, I wish all of you a beautiful and peaceful November and a happy Thanksgiving .....

which is syndicated to more than 100 stations in North America. Woohoo! ... As for the NEW Shadowland CD, we are aimin' for a March 1st release date, so stay tuned. And please remember to keep checkin' my website, Facebook page and Twitter feed for all of the latest on this release, other news, info and gig dates .....

THE JUKES: After a fun bunch of shows in October, The Jukes are back at it this month with a return appearance at the new Hard Rock Hotel and Casino in Atlantic City. This is a great spot we played when it first opened over the summer and we're happy to get back there so soon. There is an exhibit somewhere in the Casino with memorabilia from New Jersey's rich musical history. There are some items detailing the Jukes early years, so make sure to check it out ... We're also headed up to New England at the end of the month, so we hope to see some familiar faces there .....

ETC: Oria and I had a great night at Trend for a singer-songwriter event last month. It's always great to play and hang with other local musicians ... We will also be back at the wonderful Salt Creek Grille for a jazz/blues gig this month. It's one of our favorite spots to play and we're always happy to get back there. It has a nice vibe and a great food and drink menu, so c'mon out and hang with us .....

SHADOWLAND: Just a final quick note about Pig Gig IV - thanks to the generosity of our sponsors, participating musicians and everyone who attended, donated or both, we were able to donate a total of $3,500 to the Fibrolamellar Cancer Foundation. Wow!!! And every cent of it will go towards research in finding treatments and a cure to this deadly disease. We want to raise even more money next year, so start clearin' your calendar for Pig Gig V next fall! In the meantime, Here's to Jay! ... Even though the Shadowland debut CD has been available for a while now, it never had an OFFICIAL release - until now, that is. Since its official release in September, the CD has been added to the playlists of a number of radio stations in North America, including a few in the all-important college radio tation market. I'm also thrilled its been added to the playlist of the prestigious Blues Deluxe radio show,
