GUITARIST / COMPOSER / PRODUCER

NEWSLETTER - MARCH 2019

February was a busy month and March will be no different - except we hope to see and feel a glimpse of spring. Touring has been mostly fun and I always look forward to going to Europe. I love March - the beginning of springtime with a little warmer temps, more sunshine and the season's amazing energy. I'm in the middle of planning Pig Gig Arkansas with my brother Greg and sister-in-law Sheila. It's sure to be a helluva event with drinks, THE PIG and music by fantastic local bands and Glenn Alexander & Shadowland, baby! It'll be held in Rogers, Arkansas - Jay's hometown. It's May 19th, maybe we'll see some of y'all - look out!!! Glenn

THE JUKES: Oh boy. The band is on a swing of the south and it's hell of a run, something like 11 shows in 16 days throughout Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee and Georgia - look out now! But first came the sold-out show at the iconic Stone Pony in Asbury Park. It's always a crazy party and this show was no exception. Then we hopped on the bus to head to Virginia for a gig the next day. No rest for the wicked. We had a couple of days off and I flew back to fulfill some other work duties at home. No big deal, right? WRONG! Flying out was insane, delayed flights, cancellations. Got in six hours late and flying back to meet the band for the show in Bonita Springs was worse. A total nightmare - snow, sleet, rain, ice, the whole magillah. Delay after delay, I finally got on a plane and showed up in Florida, a bit late for the gig. And it never felt so good to see Johnny and The Jukes! March sees The Jukes back in the U.S. for a week or so, then heading back out on the road to the U.K. Looking forward to seeing some of our European fans and friends along the way. We finish up the month at one of our favorite spots - the Mayo Theatre in Morristown, New Jersey

ETC: I am absolutely THRILLED to report that because of the success of the Pig Gig, we are launching a PIG GIG ARKANSAS!!! The first Pig Gig Arkansas will take place on Sunday, May 19th in Rogers - Jay's hometown! For those who don't know, my nephew Jay Alexander succumbed to fibrolamellar cancer at the age of 20 in 2011. Since then, my family and I have been very involved in fundraising for the Fibrolamellar Cancer Foundation. The first Pig Gig was in 2015 and since then we have been raising money for research. My brother Greg and his wife Sheila - Jay's parents - have now launched an Arkansas version and I will be performing with Oriá and Shadowland. It is going to be a great event and if you are in the area, please buy a ticket and support this amazing cause. Tickets are available here. Or click here to donate to the Fibro Foundation. Here's to Jay!!! ... Oriá and I have a couple of great gigs in March - first up is at Barnacle Bill's in Rumson. We played there in January and I was sick as a dog, but the crowd was great, the food off-the-hook and we love the owner, Todd Sherman. So please c'mon out if you're in the 'hood. ... Oriá and I will be back at the wonderful Salt Creek Grille in Princeton in March and will be joined by our friend Chris Plunkett on bass. Remember to keep an eye on my website, Facebook and Twitter for all the latest
